« You won't be settled in Australia ». Here is a slogan from Tony Abbott, Australia Prime Minister, very proud for having set up the hardest immigration policy in the world. To face illegal migration issues, 8000 « boat people », and 20 000 asylum applications, he decided to « sell » them to poor countries and islands in Oceania such as Papua New Guinea, Nauru. Recently, Cambodia accepted a 40 million dollars cheque to « welcome » these immigrants. This astonishing investigation mixes moving scenes with animation footage, to show their detention conditions.
